Whitneyville Walker .44By HC-2 NAS Norfolk '92This is a good compilation of correspondences between Colt and mainly Eli Whitney, the man mainly responsible for manufacturing the pistols. (Colt Walker .44) Their correspondence is dry but intriguing in that the two of them 'design' the pistol through writing to one another. I have an original hardbound copy from 1949. I bought it at a gunshow in 1985 in Dallas for $100.00. It is in new condition.

Chronologically presented, the correspondence published in this volume completes the account of the manufacture in 1847 of the Walker Model Colt revolver.
