The cover is a synthetic material but it looks like leather. The book is heavy on pictures and light on writing, which we found to be the favorable balance. My dad went to the SS 50th anniversary bike build-off in wisconsin last year and I can't wait to give him this book for Christmas. Definitely worth the price, especially since the shipping was free!!

In 1958 George Smith started a small company called S S Cycle. His mission: To make all bikes go faster. Fifty years later, S S Cycle is everything Smith envisioned. To celebrate its fiftieth anniversary, the worlds premiere builder of aftermarket V-twin motorcycle engines and components commissioned custom motorcycles from fifty top builders.

The competition that grew out of this challenge unfolds in the pages of S S Presents Today's Top Custom Bike Builders, which showcases the splendid bikes built for S S's fiftieth anniversary show. The book, beginning with a brief history of S S Cycle, features four-page spreads on each motorcycle, along with profiles of the builders--including Chica, Cory Ness, Paul Cox, Jerry Covington, Jesse Rooke, Redneck Engineering, Arlen Ness, Kim Suter, Brian Klock, Kendall Johnson, Roger Bourget, Rick Fairless, Fred Kodlin, and Paul Teuttel Sr. With illustrations by master custom-bike photographer Michael Lichter, this is as much a celebration of the custom builders art as it is a tribute to S S Cycles accomplishment.

The $40 coffee-table tome has a bit of company history, a foreword by Jay Leno and 223 pages of beautiful photography with profiles on each builder. Cycle World
